Leaving Baltimore every Monday morning at eight o clock, touching at Annapolis, and from theme to Chester Town. Fare as heretofore.

Sept. 20, 1821. Considering it will be more agreeable to passengers in the Steam Boat Maryland, to arrive at Baltimore and Easton before dark, it is intended from the first of November ensuing, that the

shall start from Easton and Baltimore at 7 o'clock in the morning, instead of 8 o'clock as heretofore; leave Annapolis at half past I o'clock on her passage up, and at half past I to'clock on her passage

Anne-Arundel County, and State of Maryland.

This is to certify, that on the 23d day of September 1821, Lewis Rey nolds of said county, brought before moids of said county, brought before me one of the justices of the peace for the county aforesaid, a MARE, which he alleged had been taken up by him in the act of trespassing on his property. The natural and artificial manks of which said Mare are as follows: a deep sorrel, or between a bay and sorrel, somewhat hipsing in her near hip, a small white spot in her forehead, some white spots of her back, upwards of white spots of her back, upwards of fourteen hands high, and appears to be upwards of ten years old, and so badly foundered that the spots of the sp foundered that her gaits are not easily perceived. Given under my hand and seal this twenty-fourth day of Septem

For the American daily Advertiser. PLANTING OF TREES.

You may oblige some of the readers of your paper, by inserting the suppor following extracts from a Pamphlet. | superio lately published by Mr. William Prince, of Long Island

Time of Planting.

"Spring is the season when we feel the most pleasure in making our rural improvements, and from this circumstance, probably; it has become the most general season for planting trees; but experience has proved that the fall planting is the most successful, particularly in the United States, so subject to droughts, as the trees planted in autumn do not suffer from the drought, when those set out in the spring perish in consequence of it.

"As soon as the trees arrive at the place where they are to be planted, let a trench be dug in cultivated ground, the bundles unpacked, and the roots well wet, and immediately covered with earth in the trench, observing to make the earth fine that is spread over the roots, and not thrown on in clods, which would leave vacancies for the admission of air to dry the roots, it having been found, by experience, that the thriftiness of a tree, the first season after transplantation, depends much on the fine fibres of the roots being kept moist, and not suffered to dry from the time the tree is taken up till it is replanted; for, if the trees are left exposed to drying winds, the young fibres of the roots must perish, and the trees, if they live at all, cannot thrive the first season. In planting, let the trees be set two or three inches deeper than before, and in filling in the earth around their roots, let some well rocted stable manure be incorporated with the earth, in quantity proportioned to the size of the tree, from one to three shovels full, and finish by leaving a hollow, or hasin, around the tree, to catch the rain and convey it to the roots."

To cause the Trees to grow and continue thrifty. "The earth must be kept cultivated where they are planted; no young tree can grow thriftly if the grass is suffered to form a sod around it; and, if it should be found necessary to plant them in grass ground. care must be taken to keep the earth mellow, and free from grass, for two or three feet distant around them, and every autumn have some well rotted manure dug in around each tree, and every spring have the bodies of the apple, pear, plumb and cherry trees, and any others that it desirable to promote the growth of, brushed over with common soft toap, unmixed with water; this, with the aid of cultivated ground, and some manure, as before mentioned, will give a thriftiness to the trees, surpassing the expectation of any one who has not seen its effect."

The Disease among Horses called the "Yellow Water."

Symptoms.-This disease is always tended with a violent palpitation f the heart—a drooping of the head and sleepeness of the eyes; the hair of the mane and tail becomes loose. Remedy-One quarter ounce gamoppe; one half do, salt petre; one onne alum; one do, copperas. Pulverize all the ingredients, and int the whole into a bottle with fourgills of cold water-stop it tight, shake it well, and let it stand one hight-it is then fit for use. Application .- Give one table poonful of the mixture three mornogs running; then omitting three nornings, repeat the dose as before, and so on, until the horse has taken nine doses. A rowel is to be made n the breast as soon as the use of he medicine commences, turning itance a day. [Scoharie Observer.
